(d) by what time Government is likely to accept and implement the suggestions made in the report?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF RURAL DEVELOPMENT (SHRI CHANDRA SEKHAR SAHU): (a) to (d) The Ministry of Rural Development implements a number of schemes for poverty alleviation, employment generation, creation of rural infrastructure and amenities in rural areas. To improve further rural infrastructure, a major plan for rebuilding of rural India, which has now been conceived as a business plan called 'Bharat Nirman' is being implemented over a period of four years 2005-2009. The six components of the Bharat Nirman are, village electrification, provisioning of safe sources of drinking water, village connectivity by telephone and all-weather roads, creation of additional irrigation capacity and construction of house for rural poor. The Ministry of Rural Development is implementing three of the six components of Bharat Nirman i.e., rural roads, rural housing and rural drinking water Supply. Another ambitious schemes taken up from 2nd February, 2006 by the Government is National Rural Employment Guarantee, which envisages to provided 100 days guaranteed employment to each rural household each year, those who want to take up manual work.

On account of implementation of above programmes and other developmental schemes, there has been general improvements. As per the national Sample Organization's 61st round of the consumer expenditure data for 2004-2005, the poverty ratio for rural areas declined to 28.3% as against 37.3% in 1993-94. The findings of the concurrent evaluation of self employment programme namely Swaranjayanti Gram Swarozgar Yojana (SGSY)-2002, reveals that 15.09% members sampled swarozgaris of Self Help Groups (SHGs) and 37.24% sampled individual swarojgaris crossed the poverty line.

The National Council of Applied Economic Research (NCAER) has recently published a report regarding creation of infrastructure facilities in rural areas titled "INDIA Rural Infrastructure Report" 2007. The report broadly covers the sectors of telecommunications, power, roads and transport, water and sanitation. The report estimated an investment of Rs. 1,58,313 crore needed for full coverage at 2002-03 prices. Besides the sectoral recommendation, the Report recommended new approaches through promoting local initiatives, offering micro-finance to build demand, encouraging private providers, decentralizing regulations, decentralizing fiscal authority and targeting subsidies.

Income earmarked for determining poverty line

†981. SHRI LALIT KISHORE CHATURVEDI: Will the Minister of RURAL DEVELOPMENT be pleased to state:

(a) the income in rupees earmarked for determining poverty line at present;

(b) whether it is uniform in all the States or different income has been fixed in this regard, if it is different, the details of its limit, State-wise; and

(c) the basis for fixing the same, the weightage given to different factors and the details of these factors?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF RURAL DEVELOPMENT (SHRI CHANDRA SEKHAR SAHU): (a) The Planning Commission uses a poverty line based on per capita consumption expenditure as the criterion to determine the persons living below the poverty line. It does not take into consideration income for determining poverty line. The national poverty line at 2004-05 prices is Rs. 356.30 per capita per month in the rural areas and Rs. 538.60 per capita per month in the urban areas.

† Original notice of the question was received in Hindi.

(b) No, Sir. The State-wise poverty lines differ on account of inter-state price differential. The latest estimate of poverty lines in rural and urban areas available for the year 2004-05, are given in Statement (See below).

(c) The poverty line adopted by the Planning Commission is defined as per capita consumption of Rs. 49.09 per month in rural areas and Rs. 56.64 per month in urban areas at 1973-74 prices at national level. These correspond to a basket of goods and services anchored on a norm of per capita daily calorie requirement of 2400 kcal in rural areas and 2100 kcal in urban areas. The national level rural and urban poverty lines (in 1973-74) are disaggregated into state-specific poverty lines using state-specific price indices and inter-state price differentials. These state-specific poverty lines of 1973-74 are updated for the later years using state-specific Consumer Price Index of Agricultural Labourers (CPIAL) in the rural areas and Consumer Price Index of Industrial Workers (CPIIW) in the urban areas following the methodology contained in the report of the Expert Group of 'Estimation of Proportion and Number of Poor'. The national poverty lines in later years are worked out as an interpolated value from the national level consumption distribution obtained from the NSS consumer expenditure data and the national level poverty ratio. The national level poverty ratio is estimated as an average of state-wise poverty ratios.
